

DUTY OF CANDOUR; Null Report

All health and social care services in Scotland have a duty of candour. This is a legal requirement which means that when things go wrong and mistakes happen, the people affected understand what has happened, receive an apology, and that organisations learn how to improve for the future.

An important part of this duty is that we provide an annual report about the duty of candour in our services. This short report describes how our care service has operated the duty of candour during the time between 01 June 2022 and 31 May 2023. We hope you find this report useful.

1. How many incidents happened to which the duty of candour applies?

In the last year, there have been no incidents to which the duty of candour applied.

2. Information about our policies and procedures

Where something has happened that triggers the duty of candour, our staff report this to the Annette Patterson who has responsibility for ensuring that the duty of candour procedure is followed. The registered manager records the incident and reports as necessary to the Care Inspectorate. When an incident has happened, the registered manager and staff set up a learning review. This allows everyone involved to review what happened and identify changes for the future.

All new staff learn about the duty of candour as part of their induction. We know that serious mistakes can be distressing for staff as well as people who use care and their families. We have put arrangements in place to have occupational welfare support in place for our staff if they have been affected by a duty of candour incident.

Where individuals accessing our services and their relatives are affected by the duty of candour, we have arranged for them to have access to this welfare support too.
